

Academic Planning & External Links

Academic Planning and External Links (AP&EL) is an important unit of the University which facilitates development of new academic programmes, disciplines and courses as well as execution and review of on-going academic programmes. It also reviews the academic system of the University with reference to admissions, teaching and learning environment, research culture, assessment and examination system in consultation with various academic departments. To achieve the strategic goals and objectives consistent with GCU Vision and Development Strategy (2005-2020), the office of AP&EL keeps liaison with the office of the Registrar, the Deans, the Chairpersons, Controller of Examinations, Director Quality Enhancement Cell and other stakeholders.

In this age of synergy, globalization and internationalization, GC University Lahore believes in developing and strengthening academic and research collaboration with the well-reputed institutions to enhance the quality of education and research. The office of AP&EL is also responsible for establishment, promotion and review of academic links of the University with various organizations. Since 2002, GCU has established academic and research

The subject of agreement include exchange of teaching and research staff; exchange of students; short and long term visits; collaborative research projects; exchange of archives, publications and information; joint seminars/workshops/conferences, etc.

The congenial learning environment of GCU is favourable in establishing / strengthening academic and research partnerships with national as well as international stakeholders.

